North Side Association Asks Park Board To Help Finance Playground Here

Organization Informed That Commissioners Cannot Provide Funds; Civic Group Announces Plan To Carry Matter Up to Council

If the North Side Civic Association is to receive financial assistance in establishing a playground at Lincoln Park, it will have to be from some source other than the City Park Board. Of this the association was assured by members of the park board at a meeting held in the council chamber at the City Hall last night.

Hopes held by those interested in the project that the money received as insurance on the building destroyed by fire at the park several years ago could be used for a playground, were dispelled by O. S. Rapp, president of the park board, who died suddenly early today. He assured representatives of the association that under the law the money could be used for no purpose other than for a building.

Much blame for the financial difficulties encountered by the park board in operating city parks was laid on the door of city council by Mr. Rapp. He stated that council seemed to lack the proper appreciation of the value of parks to the city.

"I do not wish to criticize council, because it has a hard job," Mr. Rapp said, "but there is no question but they overlook the value of the parks. When a shortage of money makes it necessary to slice from the budget, the park fund is selected as the victim."

While unable to provide any financial aid, members of the board assured representatives of the association that they were in accord with the project and would only ask that they be consulted in the matter of buying equipment and that the playground be properly supervised.

In explaining the financial situation, Anson Pickrel, secretary of the board, told members of the civic association that last year the board had asked for $5,000 for the maintenance of the parks this year, and that it had received $2,200. Included in this sum was $250 for water and lights, water alone at the three parks costing $21 a month. He said it also required $600 of this amount for insurance.

The lack of co-operation on the part of city was cited by Mr. Rapp. He said that in response to a request that the service department security and roll the park roads he was informed by Service Director O. A. Benedict that the department would do so but the board would have to pay for it.

An erroneous impression this Lincoln Park has been overlooked in the matter of upkeep and beautification was explained by Mr. Rapp. He said that both McKinley and Garfield parks at the park board had assisted in the care of the parks and had also donated flowers and shrubs to beautify the grounds.

The general condition of the grounds at the two parks, it was explained by Mr. Rapp, made the care of the lawns easier while the rough condition of the ground at Lincoln Park made the mowing of the grass practically impossible.

Then their fight for a playground would be taken to City Council was intimated by members of the association at the conclusion of the meeting last night.

PRISONER DYING AS RESULT OF BREAK

Physicians at Pen Say Clevelander Cannot Recover; Shot in Mad Dash

Columbus, March 28.—Bryan Keenan, 27, Cleveland gangster and convicted murderer, lay unconscious and near death on a cot in the Ohio penitentiary hospital here today, following an unsuccessful attempt to escape from the penal institution late yesterday. Prison physicians say Keenan cannot recover as the shotgun slug that felled him, split the dome of the fugitive's liver.

Keenan was serving life for the killing of John Han, a Cleveland taxi driver, yesterday afternoon. Keenan, a member of the penitentiary band and as such spent his days in the life house.

When an unloaded gravel truck was left standing near a gate with motor running, yesterday afternoon, Keenan ran to the truck, threw it into gear and sent it crashing through a stockade gate, toward an outer portal.

The truck from the path of a second truck whose driver attempted to block Keenan's path, and in another moment the truck had battered through a street gate. The motor stalled but Keenan jumped to the street and ran until a bullet from the shotgun of Tower Guard John Conrad felled him.

"Don't shoot," gasped Keenan as Guard H. C. Oppen approached with pistol ready for action. Keenan fainted and was carried to the prison hospital.

HAITI PROGRESSING

Report of High Commissioner Made to Secretary Kellogg

Washington, March 28.—"The American intervention in Haiti will form a brilliant page in history of which every American should be proud."

This challenging statement from the annual report of John H. Russell, American high commissioner to Haiti, threw down the gauntlet of battle today to Senator William H. King, Democrat of Utah, whose criticism of the Haitian government following his exclusion from that country last April, has remained heretofore unanswered.

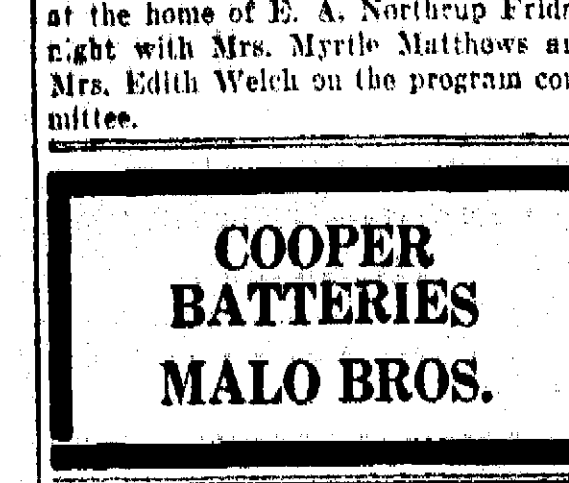

Russell's report to Secretary of State Kellogg declared that the work of re-establishing Haiti on a sound economic and political basis is progressing at an almost unbelievable pace.

"The prosperity and happiness of the Haitian people have already been materially advanced."

Let's Settle This Gas Rate Now And For Years!

Nothing was ever achieved by inaction. The City of Marion and your Gas Company have both paid a heavy penalty in lost development for delay in the gas rate case.

The Public Utilities Commission in the Kenton rate case authorized a charge of 88 cents for the first 400 cubic feet or less or at the rate of 22 cents per hundred cubic feet. Your Gas Company asks only $1.00 for the first 500 cubic feet or at the rate of 20 cents per hundred cubic feet.

The Commission allowed in the Kenton gas rate case a block rate of 74 cents per thousand cubic feet for the next 2600 cubic feet;

70 cents per thousand for the next 7000 cubic feet and 53 cents for all over 10,000 cubic feet. Your Gas Company asks only 60 cents per thousand for all over 500 cubic feet.

Your Gas Company asks only what the necessities of its business require. It seeks only such return for its service as will justify it in continuing that service and improving it. And for nearly four years it has waited for you to decide.

If this can be called arbitrary,—surely the Gas Company has not been arbitrary. If this can be called unfair,—is it the Gas Company that is unfair?

Will you help get immediate action to settle this matter now and for years?

REVIVAL OPENS AT FIRST U. B. CHURCH

Rev. Carl Hoop of Findlay Preaches on Judges 6:14-16

With his sermon on the subject, "God's Command and Promise," Rev. Carl Hoop of Findlay opened revival services last night at First United Brethren Church. Reverend Hoop preached on the text, Judges 6:14-16, "Go in this thy might, and thou shalt save Israel from the hand of the Midianites. Surely I will be with thee."

B. K. Hill led in a half-hour song service preceding the sermon.

Speaking of doubt the evangelist said in part, "It kills faith, destroys hope, annihilates assurance and hinders progress. Doubt changes optimism into pessimism, success into failure, victory into defeat and every bright show and shining the wheels of advancement. Doubt offers cowardice instead of courage, gloom instead of glory, evil instead of good and has started millions on the toboggan slide to ruin. Doubt never built churches, founded schools, or established Christian organizations and it never will; it blights enthusiasm, encourages fear, destroys earnestness, promises despair, opens the doors of darkness, closes the windows of light and stands continually as a wicked monster shouting again and again, 'It can't be done, it can't be done.'"

Tonight Reverend Hoop will preach on the subject, "The Power of Prayer." The service is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock. Arrangements are being made by the evangelist and Rev. W. H. Howard, pastor, for a special meeting for women only at the church at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Reverend Hoop will preach on the subject, "The Way of Choice."

CONTINUE HEARING ON DITCH PROPOSAL

Protests Result in Session Closely Resembling Contest in Court

Final hearing on the Quaga Ditch improvement, the largest drainage project proposed in Marion County in the last 10 years, lasted throughout all of yesterday's session of the Board of County Commissioners and was scheduled to continue until some time this afternoon.

Protests against the improvement coming from a majority of landowners along the route of the ditch, southeast of the city, resulted in the hearing being a proceeding closely resembling a contest in court.

Lawyers were present to represent all parties in the controversy and an expert witness was on hand to testify for the proponents. The expert was Guy Elin of Ada, head of the engineering department of Ohio Northern University.

Many of the protesters filed claims for compensation on the contention that their land would be damaged by excavations to be made for the ditch improvement.

The compensation claims amount to approximately $25,000, almost as much as the estimated cost of the entire improvement, including the main ditch and a branch.

Estimated Cost
Cost of the main ditch, which would extend from the southeast section of the city to the Whitestone river, a distance of about six miles, is estimated at $20,071.72. A branch petitioned for by the Vernon Heights Realty Co., is estimated at $3,100.30.

The lobby of the commissioners' office was jammed to overflowing by the crowd of interested property owners. These included a majority of the farmers filing protests.

They contend that the improvement is not necessary as far as their land is concerned.

Plans call for straightening, widening and deepening of the ditch over its entire course.

Petition Filed in 1928
Petition for the improvement was filed on May 20, 1928, by the Marion Cemetery Association, the Marion Cemetery trustees, Marion Cemetery Association and the Vernon Heights Realty Co. The Vernon Heights Co. recently petitioned for the branch to serve that section of the city.

It is said by some that the improvement is to be made for the benefit of the city and the county.

HOT PAINT SCALDS WORKMAN AT POLLAK

Orville Leven, 348 Van Buren-st, Burned About Hands and Face

Orville Leven, 318 Van Buren-st, sustained severe burns to his hands and face early last night when a paint tank into which he was dipping steel fence posts at the plant of the Pollak Steel Co. caught fire.

Although Leven was working near the tank at the time, he was unable to account for the explosion that threw the heated paint over his hands and face. It was stated at the office of the superintendent this morning.

He was taken to the office of a physician where the burns were dressed and later taken to his home.

Firemen from Central Station answered a call sent in by fellow employees. The blaze, leaping up from the tank, had set fire to the wall. It was put out with water, with a small property loss.

Possibly the unusual tributes of respect paid to Chicago's latest dead gangster were due to the fact that his death was taken to have been due to a foul political murder rather than the customary gangster assassination, so common in that city.

In editorially reciting the "liabilities" the Republican party will have to carry in this year's presidential campaign, the Chicago Tribune, possibly due to its well-known modesty, omitted mention of the Chicago Tribune.

Governor Al Smith, of New York, points out to Senator Gerald P. Nye that he, Nye, has neglected to apologize for the false statement uttered by him, Nye, concerning him, the governor. If Al really expects Gerald to apologize for his shortcomings, it's a cinch he doesn't know him. There are other and prior statements calling for apologies by the senator far longer overdue.

Backed by a Unity of Interests.

It is a matter for regret that the situation was such that every voter in Marion could not have heard the addresses of Judge George B. Scofield, of our own city, and Dr. Stephen K. Mahon, of Toledo, preceding the organization of the Marion Civic association, Monday evening. Had all heard them, it would have obviated need of putting them in full touch with the praiseworthy purposes of the association.

To many, the address of Dr. Mahon, which brought out the need of such a civic organization, was especially effective, but to us the solid meat in the shape of facts and figures presented by Judge Scofield in his address as chairman of the meeting was of surpassing appeal. What he had to say in depicting the growth of Marion during the past half century and picturing the progress the city has made was new to those of its hearers who have not yet attained middle life and recalled much to those who have which they had forgotten.

As we understand its purpose, the association, which is representative of every line of business and industry in the city, of every club or other organization, of every profession and occupation, is to study and plan for the betterment of Marion—the physical, social, commercial, industrial, occupational and civic betterment of Marion; to study conditions in the city; to study the progress it makes; to study questions and issues which may come up for solution to our citizenship; to collect and utter accurate information concerning the city and city affairs that all may know and act advisedly on any matter submitted to the voters for their approval or rejection, as they may decide in the light of such information.

And to be the active agents of the association, nine young, active, capable representatives of nine different lines of endeavor were selected as members of the executive board of the organization, which will report from time to time to the association membership—Jesse H. Mason, Morgan E. Burke, Harvey Gracely, Wilfred C. Schaffner, Ed C. Walters, James C. Woods, Elmer J. Schoenlaub, Malcolm Strelitz, and Charles Isaly.

To them and to the association they serve, this newspaper offers its best wishes for the utmost success in the accomplishment of the aims and purposes of this forward movement, strengthened and fortified by the unity of interests behind it.

Intimidation and Terrorism.

Probably no more effective illustration of the deplorable conditions existing in the state of Illinois, and particularly in the city of Chicago, could be offered than the dynamiting, shortly before midnight Monday, of the homes of United States Senator Charles S. Deneen and Judge John A. Swanson, the Deneen candidate for state's attorney in Cook county.

The bombing of the two homes is attributed to the feud between Illinois Republican factions headed by Senator Deneen on one side and on the other by Governor Len Small, of Illinois; Mayor William Hale Thompson, of Chicago, and State's Attorney Robert K. Crowe, of Cook county.

In offering a reward of $10,000 for the apprehension and conviction of the bombers, State's Attorney Crowe issued a formal statement declaring it to be his belief that the bombings were done by the leaders of the Deneen organization, a theory strikingly reminiscent of some of the disingenuous alibis offered by the bolsheviks of soviet Russia when the trail of some heinous crime or other happened, responsibility for which they would dodge, leads to their door. The fact that one of the bombs thrown narrowly missed Judge Swanson as he was walking from his car to his front door rather disposes of the claim that the outrages were committed by those friendly to his candidacy. Even in Chicago, political workers do not take chances like that of killing their own candidates to influence voters to support such candidates. Support at the polls would be of little advantage to a candidate after he was dead.

But no matter where the blame for these particular outrages may in fact rest, it is inevitable, in the failure of proof that responsibility rests elsewhere, that they will be attributed to members of the political faction opposed to the victims of them.

But even this being true, it's a question if the real responsibility for these and the many other crimes committed by gunmen, gangsters, thugs and other denizens of the criminal element of Chicago doesn't rest primarily with the so-called respectable, law-abiding people of Chicago themselves. Unquestionably they are in the majority, yet they permit the gunmen, gangsters, rum-runners, bootleggers, bandits, thieves, dope-peddlers and other criminals to control the politics of the city. It is impossible that the decent element of Chicago's citizenship has not long recognized the fact that there should be a civic housecleaning up there, yet they do not esteem their decency sufficiently high to combine regardless of political lines and wrest their city, the second largest in the land, from the control of the criminal element which has so signally disgraced it and them.

It is worse than useless for decent, respectable people to complain of conditions and then remain supine under them without making effort to combine to effect a change. It is hard to believe the decent citizenship of Chicago can much longer remain inactive under the reign of intimidation and terrorism maintained by the criminal element of that municipality.

Sunshine in the Heart.

There was laid at rest in beautiful Marion cemetery yesterday all that was mortal of a good, Christian woman from whose life many—yes, all—of us may glean a wholesome lesson.

Left a widow with five small children and without means, by hard manual labor she fed and clothed them, and cared for them, and educated them until they had reached the estate of young manhood or womanhood. She not only did all this, but by thrift and frugality she became the owner of a good home and the possessor of an adequate competency should there be need of one in her declining years.

But it is not of this we chiefly wish to speak. Many a woman has done all this; many probably have accomplished far more in a worldly way under a like handicap. Our real purpose is to tell of the sunshine she carried in her heart. No matter where she went, she spread cheer. No matter in what circle she moved or what might be her occupation at the time, she added her bit to the sum total of human happiness. And when death finally came to her at five years beyond man's allotted time, there were manifestations of heartfelt sorrow on the part of all who knew her such as are seldom shown.

This woman had a homely philosophy. It was to do what you had to do willingly and to do it right and to get joy and happiness out of the doing of it, and it was in following this philosophy that she added cheer to the lives of others.

How many of us are doing what we have to do right? How many of us are getting joy and happiness out of it, and giving joy and happiness to others? How many of us are adding day by day, month by month and year to the general joy of living? In this life we live, there is no coin which goes so far as a smile prompted by the heart, no open sesame which so magically unlocks the door leading to friendship and understanding. Why not spread and enjoy cheer and happiness while we may?

Talking about unpreparedness, a fourth of the school population of Westerville is said to be suffering from the influenza.

Meetings were held in 250 Chicago churches, Sunday, to pray for good government and religious guidance in the April primary. We firmly believe in the efficacy of prayer, but it may be well for the Chicago church congregations to remember that words without works seldom are of avail.

A New York state editor charges that Hoover is opposed by Wall street, the international bankers resenting his stand on foreign debts. Off hand, we assume this to be a bit of friendly propaganda.

Colonel Frank L. Smith, former United States senator-elect, now senator designate and also candidate for the senate, told a Chicago audience: "I'm no supernat, but I have as much virtue as those who traduce me." It's a clutch that no one can accuse Mr. Smith of self-praise on the strength of that assertion.

Attractive Eyes Due to Health.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

One of the most attractive of the features is the human eye. It matters not whether the eye is large or small, light or dark, if it is clear and bright, it makes instant appeal.

The "whiteness" of the eye must be white. It must not be yellow or muddy in appearance. It must be free from engorged blood vessels.

What are the causes of bloodshot eyes? Some persons get up every morning with red eyes. They may bleach out after a while, but as soon as the light strikes them they get red.

Other persons have such sensitive eyes that to ride in the wind, or to face the sun, will cause the white of the eye to become engorged with blood. Dust and smoke are most irritating to them.

I need not speak of the effect of a foreign body. It is to be expected, of course, that this would cause the eye to become inflamed. In nine cases out of ten, the reason for a bloodshot eye can be found in eye strain. The use of glasses, either for reading, for distance, or for both uses, is likely to be the cause of all the trouble.

When you have your eyes tested to see if glasses are needed, the examination will include a test to see if the eye muscles are normal. It happens sometimes that the eyes are not doing teamwork. Each may do very well by itself, but from an inability to work together serious strain may result. There is a lack of muscle balance which will produce bloodshot eyes.

Of course there are diseases of the lining of the lids or of the eye covering, which may produce redness. This membrane is called the conjunctiva, and inflammation of it is known as conjunctivitis, and inflammation of it is known as conjunctivitis. "Granulated eyelids" and "pink eye" are forms of conjunctivitis. Redness of the tissues is a symptom of every form.

The margins of the eyelids become inflamed. This is another cause for the bloodshot condition. If your eyes easily inflame, or if there is a tendency to have obstinate redness, it is essential that you should have a thorough examination. It is not proper to permit any congestion to go untreated.

The trouble may be due to a condition so trifling that it may be removed by a very simple procedure. Do not permit your prejudice against glasses to keep you from finding the cause of the redness. Even if you need glasses, it may well be that they will be worn only part of the time, when you are reading or sewing, or when facing weather or bright lights. There are special means of glass intended to shut out irritating rays.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

The Royal Canadian Mounted police have long had a slogan: get your man. And they long ago earned the right to that slogan. They do not get their men, no matter how long and dangerous the chase. But getting your man convicted is another thing. Even in Canada, where the courts work faster than they do here, the police are complaining that liquor smugglers, especially, are too frequently acquitted.

Much of the lack of efficiency among policemen and other enforcement officers is either created or encouraged by lack of cooperation on the part of the courts or stupidity on the part of juries.

The lack of scientific mind or good business mind in places of political leadership has held back the development of industry and education in this country, as it must hold back development in every country. History tells us that the state suppressed the steam motor bus by law about 1830. A recent writer says government action delayed the development of the motor industry in this country by seventy years.

Good leadership calls for men who have trained minds, who see many things from a scientific angle, who know and understand the problems of business. We can not depend on leadership which is merely political.

We all know that the country needs statesmen who are real—real in ability and character. We do not need these near-statesmen whose chief claims to political fame rest on three things—a pleated shirt, a black string tie, and a white vest.

The Equitable Safe Deposit company, of New York, has a four-story, 10,000,000-pound vault. It rests on rock fifty feet below street level. That isn't all. When the metal surrounding this chamber is subjected to the kind of acetylene torch used by high-powered safe crackers, a gas will be thrown off which will kill a man or men before they know what it's all about. That vault is nothing to be sniffed at.

Strange that men go to such lengths to guard their material wealth and take such chances with greater possessions—reputation and character, for example.

Editorial Opinion.

A BLOW AT FEDERAL JUSTICE.

The senate has shown its contempt for the nationwide effort to invigorate criminal procedure by passing Senator Caraway's bill abridging the right of trial judges in United States courts to direct the trial. The bill makes it "irreversible error" for the judge "to express his personal opinion as to the credibility of witnesses or the weight of testimony." The purpose of this attack is to reduce federal judges to mere umpires, or referees, or moderators, which unfortunately is the position of judges in most states which fail signally in prompt and certain conviction of the guilty.

Senator Reed, of Pennsylvania, alone tried to head off this assault on justice. He disclosed plainly enough the enervating effect of the bill: "It relegates the judge, in my opinion, to a position subordinate to that of counsel. It takes away from him a large part of that wholesome authority he has over the conduct of the trial. It deprives our courts of the same restraining influence that is used so tellingly in the English courts, and is used so justly in most cases I believe. This seems to me to be a step backward. This tendency of it will be to bring down the standard of judicial practice in the United States."

But the lawyer-senators knew what they wanted—to hamstring judges. That is a typical attitude of defendants' counsel, as the late Herbert S. Hadley remarked in one of his notable reports to the National Crime commission. The Hadley committee, in its recommendations for the improvement of criminal procedure, laid the greatest stress on the judge's right to comment on the evidence and the character of witnesses. It instanced as a model the common law practice to which the federal courts adhere. Mr. Hadley spoke of the difficulty of inducing lawyer-controlled legislatures to restore that power in states where it has lapsed. At Albany a few days ago an assembly committee tossed aside a Baumes bill affirming the judge's right to comment.

Indifference of state legislators to a damaging defect in the conduct of trials is not astonishing. Their attitude is simply negative. The United States senate has the unrivaled distinction of attempting deliberately to weaken the process of criminal law which the whole country desires to have strengthened.—New York Herald Tribune.

Matter of Easy Proof.

A Kansas newspaper man who suddenly inherited $375,000, has been placed in a psychiatric sanatorium and is trying to get out on a writ of habeas corpus. The fact that he kept on working as a reporter after receiving the $375,000, would seem to place the burden of proof on the writ-writer.—Minneapolis Journal.

Ball Lighting at Sea.

BY GARRETT F. SERVISS.

"Will you kindly advance some observations in explanation of the following described phenomena, of which I was an observer? During a voyage in a course from northern Australia to Wellington, New Zealand, the following occurred: Becalmed with a long, undulating sea running; a chain of waterpumps stretching across the horizon after a cloud bank all around the horizon emitting constant flashes of 'sheet lightning,' rays, surges and other standing rigging lightly charged with electric current; when, just at dusk, every spar, bolt-head and other metal substance became outlined in a glowing incandescence with intense concentration at terminal points. Thereupon two seeming balls of subdued fire detached from yardarms floated off in leisurely manner until meeting, perhaps 200 feet from the side of the vessel. Both seemed animated with extreme distaste for each other, and, as though actuated by the same impulse, at the same instant, each bounded away from point of contact. Both then exploded at the same precise instant with considerable noise.

"What has always puzzled me is this: What quality exerted an affinity pull to bring these two bodies together, only to present such a decided antagonism to one another the instant they came in contact? Why was the explosion delayed until intervening space separated them, and why did they then explode at the same instant? Was the ship in any danger in any way from this manifestation?"—William Schiwer, New York.

The waterpumps, sheet lightning, electric discharges and St. Elmo's fire that you saw, followed by the ball lightning, would make a good setting for some of the scenes in Clark Russell's sea stories. Not many landsmen have ever seen any of these things except the sheet lightning. Some who are not too nervous over these manifestations of nature's strange powers may, after reading your account, get from their bookshelves some such romance as Cupples' "The Green Hand" in order to picture themselves in similar surroundings.

The curious antics of the two glowing balls of electricity that detached themselves from the ship's rigging and floated away peacefully until they began to approach one another are easily accounted for on the assumption that they carried opposite electric charges. Opposite charges attract one another, as you know. But on coming into contact they probably both became charged alike, whereupon they parted.

This phenomenon of charged bodies being first drawn together and then flying apart is common enough even in simple parlor experiments with electricity. I have myself often seen small feathers of down first attracted to a black rubber comb that has been electrified by friction, wrapping it tightly with a hundred tiny wax arms and then suddenly leaping away to join an offered finger which they treated to the same electrical endearments. Finally, however, they went back to the comb with all the former enthusiasm when again provoked to elope.

As to the explosion of the two balls after parting I can only say that it is a phenomenon recorded in many cases where this singular form of electricity has been observed. Not many weeks ago I gave an account of a lightning ball that entered a house, passing through the walls by silently making a small hole, rolling harmlessly over the floor and finally exploding on the ground outside. And that story was attested by an attache of the United States weather bureau.

I think that no meteorologist or other scientific authority knows exactly how and why these things occur just as they do. And, just because there is a great deal yet to be explained about such occurrences, and narratives like yours are of much interest and importance.

With regard to the explosive force it has been calculated that in lightning phenomena the repulsion of electrified air particles of like sign confined in a small space may produce an atmospheric pressure of as much as 1,500 pounds to the square inch. Still, I don't think that your ship was in danger. The electric concentrations were all on the outside.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MINTYRE.

New York, March 28.—New York no longer offers those illustrious theatrical families who—like that strange aloofness the profession seems to create—in private homes, they have scattered to hotels, apartments, houses, clubs and Hollywood villas.

In other days New York was "home" to the trouper and thoughts of getting back to the family hearth sustained him during trying days of one-night stands in kerosene lighted halls. Now that few players leave New York and could enjoy a home, they somehow do, want one.

The theatrical home was always interesting and different. Nobody got up until noon. Breakfast was served all over the house and a family never collected at the breakfast table at the same time. There was the early scramble for dinner and rush to the theater.

The big relaxing hour was after the play, members of the family would hurry home from their triumphs, bring their friends and enjoy the important meal of the day. Every New Yorker coveted an invitation permitting a peep into the private home life of a player.

In some ways the great theatrical families established one's social status. While players were rarely invited to 400 functions, a bid to their home gave a stamp of smartness to others. Their very eccentricities made them long remembered hosts and hostesses.

Talk carried the note of the struggle against the terror of night, the struggle against closing, company jealousies and love affairs and all the other tensions the theater affords. There were a dozen or more explosions of temperaments a day.

The homes were usually in confusion and yet it is proverbial few servants in theatrical families ever deserted their posts. They loved the excitement and gossip and would stay and employers through lean days without salary.

For years he was awakened in late afternoon in a flutter with a quinine taste and a hazy memory of the night before. The other day the executor of his family's estate notified him he was selling the last block of his securities to meet pressing debts.

"What am I supposed to do now?" he whined.

"I am sure I do not know," was the slightly disgusted reply. "But keep up your averages and do nothing decent."

Press agency for Broadway shows is becoming a highly-organized business on the grand Ivy Lee scale. Several publicity purveyors teamed up and one concern handled twelve shows at the same time this year.

Theatrical press agency is looked upon a little differently from average publicity in New York newspaper shops. The metropolis beats the theatrical capital, news of shows and players has more than ordinary value. It is a story coming from a theatrical press agent has first-page worth. The same story legitimate theaters in New York spend an aggregate of $3,000,000 a year for newspaper advertising.

An elevator sticking between floors is usually responsible for an explosion of New York nerves. One today in which I was riding caught between the twenty-second and twenty-third floors. It was crowded. There was a faint hysterical snicker, a hush and sudden pallor. One woman sighed and swooned against the side of the car. A broad-shouldered man began to talk to himself. It was over in two minutes. I managed to keep my head. Still in the excitement I don't remember any one in particular asking for it. Copyright, 1928, by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

$65,000 OFFERED FOR CLEW IN BOMBINGS

Man Who Names Those Responsible Also to Be Given Immunity

Chicago, March 25.—A fortune of $65,000 today awaits the person who can name the men responsible for the ruthless bombings which Monday night endangered eight lives and partially demolished the homes of United States Senator Charles S. Deneen and Judge John A. Swanson.

To make the reward offering more alluring, it provides that if the informant should be one of the actual perpetrators of the crime or in any manner involved, he will be immune from arrest and prosecution.

This huge reward, a record in Illinois for a crime involving no fatalities, was posted by 12 local Republican leaders, all opposed to the Republican faction headed by Senator Deneen.

State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, rival in the April primaries of Judge Swanson, headed the list with $10,000 of his personal fortune. Mayor William Hale Thompson, Crowe's political ally, added $5,000, as did Commissioner of Police Michael Hughes, a Thompson appointee.

No New Developments

Nine other leaders in the Thompson-Crowe organization, who contributed $5,000 each to the reward fund are: Homer K. Galpin, George F. Harding,

Turn Hair Dark With Sage Tea

By JEAN MACON

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening a r a r. streaked and faded hair is a grandmother's recipe and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the musky mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product for only 75 cents, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.—Ad.

Why regular calls at this Sign save money.

Ten-minute monthly inspection at the Exide Service Station will mean longer and better service from your battery....

Exide BATTERIES SERVICE STATION

BATTERIES are like teeth—you will get longer and better service out of them if they are inspected regularly by an expert.

Give your battery only ten minutes a month at an Exide Service Station. That's all it needs. Just long enough to let the Exide Service man test the voltage, and see if you need distilled water, or grease in the terminals.

It is a trifling bit of work, but you have no idea what a difference it will make in the long run. Regular care by a battery expert will often add as much as 25 per cent to the life of a battery. And think what a saving that would mean to you!

Look for the Exide sign

You can always be sure of expert service at an Exide Station. No matter what make of battery you have, it will pay you to call regularly at the Exide sign.

Get into the habit of stopping there once a month. It takes so little time—just about long enough to smoke a cigarette—yet it will save real money in battery costs.

Streets of Marion

WITH THE STAR STAFF

THE problem of how rural property owners are to obtain fire protection in Marion County, now that the fire department will no longer make guns to outside points is one which is not likely to be solved in the near future.

The suggestion that the board of county commissioners establish a county department to serve the country districts is not regarded favorably by members of the board. In fact they say that there is no authority granted by law for furnishing such service.

In connection with the recent announcement that the city council would no longer respond to calls from the country, it was stated that some counties in the state have departments in operation. Members of the board here doubt the authority of this statement.

They say that they do not believe there are any county fire departments in Ohio.

In the meantime it is reported that the insurance rates on farm property are climbing upward and threaten to reach the point where premium charges will be prohibitive.

As matters now stand, it looks as though the old, but not very reliable, bucket brigade will provide the only protection for country districts for some time to come.

SEVERAL days ago death claimed W. B. DeVeny, a map whose name will always occupy a special place in Marion's commercial annals.

He established the city's first "racket store," an establishment which handled a wide variety of small merchandise at low prices and which in reality was a racket store of the modern "S and B" type.

The original racket store started off with a rush and DeVeny prospered in his business here over a long period of years. He finally sold out and moved to Alliance, where his death occurred last week. Funeral services were held here Monday and burial took place at Marion cemetery.

DeVeny's store was located on S. Main st., a short distance south of the railroad, and there it became not only a popular trading point, but a place where rural residents from all parts of the county met on Saturdays not only to trade, but to visit and exchange gossip.

THE present era of prohibition, which this country is enjoying, is not enjoying, if you happen to be on the other side—did not come into existence without a struggle, an everybody knows.

The dawn of the era, since many years of storm and strife, there are indications that the era may not be absolutely ended. The wet and dry issue is, in fact, expected to create about as much commotion at this year's political campaign as it ever has in the past.

But no matter how exciting the developments may be in the future, the situation is not likely to be as turbulent as in the early pioneering days of temperance and prohibition agitation.

A reminder of those times when next door neighbors frequently became bitter enemies over the temperance question came to light several days ago at the Walters business store on S. Main st., Marion's oldest business place.

This store is about to pass out of the picture as the consequence of a vendoring demand for liquors and as preparations are being made for the closing of a number of old records and other relics are being found in the files.

The one described this week as a printed bill, which, according to all appearances must be a product of about 60 years ago. It carries the announcement of a burlesque Fourth of July celebration at the time that saloons were flourishing in the community but were doing so in the face of determined opposition from the temperance forces.

Among the leaders of the bar room underclass was the strongly organized women crusaders, the forerunners

Ritzzy Rosey

To be really up-to-date in the way of underthings one must wear suspender bloomers, the yoke part and "braces" being of lace. The feminine world must do something to combat the influx of gaudy responders worn by sportive maids.

or the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

The Fourth of July announcement appearing on the ancient circular found at the harness shop evidently came from ardent advocates of the cause. It attacks the dry forces, both collectively and individually, through words of jest and ridicule.

Brother Henderson, evidently a leader in the dry cause at that time, is openly the object of attack.

The bill is labelled as a "Programme of Brother Henderson's conception of Pop Water Drinkers and Female Lemmings (Preparatory to the October elections)."

Citizens prominent in Marion's affairs at that time are mentioned in the schedule of evenings, the program opening with the election "We Won't Go Home Till Morning," by the village band.

Evidence of the feeling on the liquor question prevailing at that time is seen in the announcement that among the first demonstrations of the day "Brother Henderson" was scheduled to "shoot off his mouth," which will answer every purpose of a caution.

Back Miserable With Sharp Pains Across Kidneys

Noticed Relief From Misery After Taking One Bottle of New Konjola

MR. NICK BATTIFARANO

"Konjola is the best remedy I ever found for a nervous system," said Mr. Nick Battifarano, 111 South 10th St., Steubenville, Ohio.

"For three years I had been trying one remedy after another, trying to find something that would give me relief from my suffering. My kidneys were weak and acted unusual. Sharp pains crept in my back and this made me miserable so that I could hardly stand it. Also, I would get staggering spells and had to hold on to something to balance myself. I had no end of trouble with my stomach and toward the last it made me sick to even look at food.

"I got Konjola and noticed relief from my misery after the first bottle was gone. As I continued with this medicine I was feeling better every day and now my health is in better condition than it has been for years and I owe it all to Konjola, this one medicine."

Konjola is different from any other known remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two pure extracts from natural plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, to a more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system brings surprising relief in cases of suffering that had been going on for years. At the same time many weak and run-down systems have been restored to a new state of health through the compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new and effective medicine that now Konjola is the most highly ordered medicine that is known in this vicinity.

Konjola is strongly recommended here in Marion at Shamp & Sons' Pharmacy and is also being sold by all the best druggists in this town throughout this section.

WHAT A DOCTOR KNOWS ABOUT CONSTIPATION

There is a way of overcoming the tendency to constipation. And here is how you can PROVE it.

The next time your bowels need any assistance, don't take the first laxative that comes to mind. Take one the drug that can assure you is made with CASCARETS. Just as effective as using force, and it's good for the system. In fact, it helps make good blood. For cascara is nothing but the bark of a tree. The Indians chew this bark, and live to an old age without a day's sickness.

What happens when you cascade the bowels? They will usually function well for SEVERAL DAYS. One more dose—no larger, and perhaps smaller than the first—and the bowels function of their own accord for a still longer time.

Until you don't feel the need of any aid of any sort for weeks-on-end.

So, the only habit you get from cascara is that of natural and normal regularity. How different from things one must usually repeat on the morrow! Cascara is the ideal laxative; and the familiar little candy cascaret is doubtless its ideal form. Children beg for these tasty tablets, and many men and women wouldn't think of taking ANYTHING else for the purpose. And EVERY druggist has them.—Adv.

"Makes Good Food Better!"

Has recipe for youth

Her method easy. Says anyone can follow it

SHE JUST got tired of having strangers speak of her husband as "our son." Yet, goodness knows, she felt old enough to be his mother most of the time! And when she looked in the mirror she really couldn't blame people for what they said.

If you were to meet this same woman today, you'd think she was her husband's younger sister, at least. Vivid, radiant, full of "aliveness"—the sort of person who never grows old. With vitality to enjoy all the happy activities our modern life provides.

No face-lifting, no mysterious regime brought about this miracle. Nujol treatment did it. It took about 3 months in her case. But after the very first bottle she began to feel a difference in herself. For Nujol not only prevents any excess of the body poisons (we all have them) from forming, but also aids in their removal. This natural, harmless product got at the real cause of the trouble and removed it. If you feel draggy and out-of-sorts and years older than you should—why don't you try this Nujol treatment?

ment? It certainly would do no harm for Nujol contains no drugs or medicine. And we feel sure it will help you. Nujol was perfected by the Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey).

The whole 3-months treatment costs about the price of 3 good movies. Wouldn't you give that much to feel like yourself, again? Be sure you get the genuine.

Four Teams Survive Semi-Final Round of Cage Tourney

MARKERT AND LEWIS TOSSERS WIN EASILY OVER COLLEGE TEAM

Butler Aces Are Eliminated by Martel; Hi-Y and Reformed Lose

BY KARL R. MELROY
Sports Editor

Markert and Lewis and Martel Lion Tamers will clash in the feature battle of the Class A amateur basketball tournament of Marion County in the final round Friday night at the Y. M. C. A.

Class B honors will be contested by Waldo High cagers and the Marion Wildcats.

The above four teams won the right to enter the finals as a result of victories gained last night. In four games a like number of teams were eliminated.

First Reformed Loss
Waldo High cagers won the hardest fought battle of the evening defeating First Reformed, 29 to 21. The winners scored 14 points in the first quarter while holding the local team scoreless. It was this scoring that won them the contest.

The playing of Strine at forward for Waldo was the feature of the game. He scored a total of 15 points from seven baskets and one free throw. N. Klingel scored 11 points for the church team.

Harding Hi-Y cagers lost a tough luck game to the Wildcats in the second of the Class B contests. After leading by a big margin in the first half and holding a two point lead at the end of the third quarter, the Hi-Y cagers were defeated, 37 to 28.

Rally in Last Period
The rally in the final period in which 35 points were scored pulled the game out of the fire. The Hi-Y quintet led 24 to 3 at the quarter, 25 to 9 at the half and 24 to 22 at the end of the third stanza. The scoring of Gillis and Travis saved the day for the Wildcats. The former scored 11 points and the latter 13.

Martel Lion Tamers, champions of last year, have prospects of duplicating the feat again this year as a result of their one-sided victory over Butler Aces. The score was 82 to 9.

The Aces gave the winners a real run during the first half. The score at the end of the first period was tied.

56 CANDIDATES OUT FOR SPRING TRAINING

Football Schedule of Harding High Has Not Been Completed

Fifty-six prospective Red and Black riders reported at Central Junior High last night when spring football practice opened.

Coach Dewey Boyer is slated at the time turn out on the first night of practice and is expecting many more to turn out this week. Practice sessions will be held for about four weeks.

The 1928 grid schedule of Harding High School has not been completed. Several open dates appear and a number of games are to be changed.

at seven all while Martel held a 13 to 8 lead at the end of the half.

Play Cool Game
Playing a mighty cool game the Lion Tamers opened a fast offensive attack in the last half piling up a one-sided score. H. A. Reed scored 12 points from the right forward position.

Behind the scoring of Gillis and Garrett, Markert and Lewis cagers rode to a 45 to 35 victory over Marion Business College.

The easy manner in which the haberdashers romped to victory came as a big surprise to most Marion fans who were anticipating a close game.

Gillis scored 15 points and Garrett accounted for 13 to star for the victors. Gibbons was high man for the cagers with 11 points while Belt was a close second with 10 counters.

WOODS and WATERS by HOMER BOW

Nothing can take the edge from the feature event of a summer in the outdoors quicker than a photograph which fails to come up to expectations. That big fish, caught in Wilderness Lake, a winner, so big, in fact, that you feel that you are forced to have a photograph to back up the story, you are going to tell. The boys at the lake will doubt your stories, of course, but arguments and unbelief will fade the way when you produce that picture of the big 'lunze, with yourself furnishing support to keep it from the ground.

All the way home, whether driving in a machine or making the trip on the train, you have figured out the story to be told and the triumphant moment when producing the picture will put sealers to rest.

One of the first things that you do, after arriving home, is to take the film to a developer and then you can't wait for the pictures in telling the story, but spread the news to the boys, draw the regular storm of decision and promise them the proof on the morrow.

On the way home you stop in at the developers, get the pictures and anxiously tear open the envelope. Chills run through you—for there is the picture of you and the 'lunze. But where is your head? The fish is on the picture but unless you are so constituted that friends will recognize you

Training Camp Briefs

LOSE AGAIN
St. Petersburg, Fla., March 28—Although the New York Yankees celebrated the forty-eighth birthday of Manager Miller Huggins by losing to the Reds again yesterday, 6 to 4, better times are in sight for the world's champions. From now on until they hit New York, they will play only minor league opponents.

Yesterday's setback was the Huggins' eighth defeat in the grapefruit league. They got 10 hits off Luque and Rixey, but errors by Koenig and Collins and Hank Johnson's wildness proved costly. The Tanks will take on the Buffalo Bisons today.

SERIES TO END
Augusta, Ga., March 28—The series between the New York Giants and the Boston Red Sox ends here today. O'Donoghue's single in the tenth gave the Giants yesterday's game by a 4 to 3 margin.

PLAN DEAL
Los Angeles, March 28—A deal was rumored on foot here which will bring Ray Jacobs, Los Angeles infielder, into the Cubs fold in exchange for a pitcher and outfielder. The Bruins are also expected to place some of their rookies today. Phil Weinert is slated to be returned to San Francisco. The Cubs continued their exhibition winning streak yesterday, trouncing Hollywood 7 to 5. Cuyler's four hits in five times up, paved the way.

SOX DOWNCAST
Shreveport, La., March 28—The White Sox were downcast today over the apparent collapse of their offensive, as demonstrated in recent exhibition games. They have only one more week here in which to train. One bright spot to the Sox, despite its meanness, is the utter flop of the New York Yankees, who have lost seven of their eight games to date. That thought made even Manager "Cracker" Schalk smile.

PECK WELL PLEASED
New Orleans, March 28—Roger Peckinpaugh, manager of the Cleveland Indians, is well pleased with the showing of his pitching staff so far. He believes George Uhle, American League ace in 1926 is returning to form. Shaute, Buckner and Hudlin, also are reported in splendid shape. "Peck" hopes to depend on Bayne and Brown for most of the relief work in the box.

NATS LOSE TO CARDS
Tampa, Fla., March 28—Although outbidding their opponents, the Nationals lost another game to the Cardinals, 6 to 5. Grant Gillis, the Nat's new rookie shortstop, was the particular hitting star, getting three. Two of them were doubles.

College Ball Players Do Good

By FRANK G. MENKE

HAVE you ever noticed that about the only players who make good in the majors with a violent hurry are the collegians?

Beyond Walter Johnson, who stepped from a semi-pro outfit into stardom at Washington, it's rather difficult to place a finger upon any sandlotter or a minor leaguer who galloped into fame almost overnight.

But when it comes to the youth from the "rah rah" places—

Frankie Frisch was taken from Fordham College, put directly into the Giant lineup—and has been a great one since. George Sisler was a collegian who went from the campus to immediate fame as a Browns. And the same is true of Fred Finner, Eddie Plank, Chief Bender, Eddie Collins, Jo Mauer, and a half dozen stars of the long gone days—as well as these.

But as for the non-collegians—Tris Speaker was picked up by the Red Sox, given a trial, blew the chance—and back to the minors he did go. After a while, they plucked him again from the "chutes," by which time he was "tripe."

Cobb Was Not So Good

The celebrated Ty Cobb wasn't a wow as a starter. He didn't even look so in his first part season as a Tiger. They thought so little of him there, figured he needed so much development, that they tried to trade him to the Yankees. But these Tanks were too "smart," they turned him down.

Rogers Hornsby was occasion for considerable despair when he landed with the Cardinals. The Rajah couldn't hit! He had averaged only about .250 in the lowly minors. His first year in St. Louis produced only .246. And then Miller Huggins told him his stance was all wrong and devoted weeks and months to changing it.

After which—the deluge of hits. Rube Marquard, who endured for something like 18 seasons in the majors was terrible when he arrived. It needed almost three seasons of tutoring, and patience to correct his faults and teach him the tricks of the trade.

Eddie Wasn't Ready

Ludie Rommel got a big league chance in 1910—but wasn't ready. He returned in 1920 but showed only a fair effort. The next year he didn't do even that well. But he leaped into stardom with his third year.

Bob O'Farrell, rated now as the greatest of catchers, had a lot of, chances before he made the great. He was with the Cubs the first time in 1915. After two years in the minors he came back for another trial. Again he failed. But on his third trip—in 1918—he stuck around.

Ed Roush was with the White Sox in 1913—but wasn't ready. In 1915 he joined the Feds. The season he got there, plus the minor league labors in 1913 and 1914 polished him off and, when the Feds disbanded Roush stepped into a Giant uniform and quickly made good.

These—so far as they regard the collegians and the sandlotters are not isolated cases. They are typical. The boys from the halls of learning—if they make good at all—do so pronto. But the man from the minors—those who have not been tuned by "readin' and writin'" and "rhythmic" of the high class variety, are slow to develop for big league usefulness.

Rate Schedule Controversy Between Alloy and C.D.&M. In Common Pleas Court

Built Filed Against Electric Company by Local Industrial Concern Protesting Against Charges Proposed for Service

A rate schedule controversy between the Alloy Cast Steel Co. and the C. D. & M. Electric Co., which has been in progress before the state utilities commission for several weeks, found its way into Common Pleas Court this morning when suit was filed against the C. D. & M. by the other company.

The Alloy Cast Steel Co. in a petition alleges that the C. D. & M. threatens to shut off electrical service to the Alloy plant unless its schedule of rates is accepted. The petition asks for an injunction to prevent discontinuance of service and also for a court order approving rates proposed by the Alloy company.

Judge Snyderfield granted a temporary injunction which is to be in effect pending final disposition of the suit. The petition stated that unless such injunction was granted, and in the event that the electrical service was discontinued, the Alloy Cast Steel Co. would be forced to close its plant.

Want Contract Approved

The Alloy company seeks to have the court approve rate contract entered into with the C. D. & M. in August, 1929, when the company began operations in the old plant of the Patheaux Reum Shovel Co.

In that contract, the petition says, the C. D. & M. agreed to furnish electricity for operation of the factory for a period of 1.10 per kilowatt hour for "off-peak" hours with the understanding that "on-peak" hours should not exceed four hours a day.

The contract, it is stated, was not to be terminated without a six months' notice from the company discontinuing.

On the basis of this agreement, the Alloy Cast Steel Co. relates, it expended approximately $250,000 in remodeling and equipping the plant for electrical operation.

Up to Dec. 20, 1934, it is related, the company received monthly bills and paid them under the contract.

Voted Down by Council

In December, the petition states, the C. D. & M. attempted to have an ordinance passed by City Council fixing a higher rate schedule. Council voted down the proposal and the C. D. & M. appealed to the state utilities commission.

As the result of hearings since then it is stated, the utilities commission has approved the original rate contract and rejected the new schedule of higher rates sought by the C. D. & M. The commission has also ordered the C. D. & M. to keep the old contract in effect, the petition alleges.

On March 5, the plaintiff company states, the C. D. & M. sent in a bill for service based on the proposed rate increases and thus the Alloy Cast Steel Co. refused to pay.

100 Men Employed

The Alloy company, the petition states, is employing between 90 and 100 men. It has a large volume of orders for castings on hand and would suffer extensive loss if deprived of the electrical power service, the court is informed by the plaintiff.

The company says that it is solely dependent on the power furnished by the C. D. & M. and that expenditure of a large sum of money would be necessary to replace the service. It could be replaced, the petition says, only by constructing a private power plant or by negotiating for power with some company other than the C. D. & M.

The suit was filed by the law firm of Moser, Young & Moser, counsel for the Alloy Cast Steel Co.

Two men were standing on an ice jam to prevent it from damming a bridge down stream. The ice was suddenly swept from under them, and they were plunged into the turbulent stream and drowned.
